

Magnus Gudéhn is new interim MD of HiQ's subsidiary in Skåne

Magnus Gudéhn, former Managing Director of HiQ's subsidiary in Stockholm, takes over the role as MD of HiQ Skåne temporarily until a new MD is in place.

"Magnus Gudéhn has been a leadership profile at HiQ since the start, and I feel confident that he will continue the great development we have in Skåne. We have started a recruitment process and I am very glad that Magnus takes over the helm until a new MD is in place", says Lars Stugemo, CEO and President of HiQ.

Magnus Gudéhn relocates to Malmö and takes over after HiQ Skåne's former Managing Director Anna Kleine, who has decided to leave the company which has previously been communicated.

"I am truly motivated to continue to lead the fantastic development we have in Öresund. With an excellent team, bold customers and an exciting market, we will continue the great development in the region", says Magnus Gudéhn.

HiQ has for more than 15 years successfully built a business in Öresund with its main location in Malmö. The company has gone from being focused on the telecom industry in Lund to spanning the entire HiQ service offering in tech, IT, integration and digital services together with large international companies as clients.

"I am extremely proud of the entire team in Skåne. Together we have built Öresund's best team of engineers, developers, strategists and creators. With new management and together with our brave clients, we will continue to use technology development to build a simpler, better, more sustainable and more fun world," says Lars Stugemo.
